

While Meredith goes to school to pursue her master's degree, she would love to have something healthy other than the ready-made food at the grocery store. She doesn't like to eat a mix of food all at once, so she always likes to keep it basic. She's up for making food by herself but never knows what to do because there are a lot of things to make.

Meredith and a group of her friends decided to make an app to generate to show how to make a certain meal with, but you'd have to provide your current ingredients. If you don't have any it'll will suggest some meals with certain ingredients.

Meredith is finally happy with the results of the successful application she made with her friends, and she will use it everyday happily

• Now Meredith can go pursue her dreams with school and work with being healthy

John has an unhealthy habit of eating junk food because he does not know any recipes to make food at his house. He not only waste money on the junk food, but is also creating unhealthy habits.

John meets a very pretty girl that he falls in love with, but doesn't think he is good enough for her. His confidence levels are not as high because he has been gaining weight from the unhealthy eating habits

John and his new potential girlfriend have been on a couple dates and he really is starting to like her but realizes he needs to lose weight to regain his confidence again.

John then finds our app on an add on his phone. It tells him all sorts of healthy meals that can be made from ingredients that might just be laying around his house.

John starts to make these meals for his new potential girlfriend and himself nightly. Spending quality time with the girl also while gaining new, healthy eating habits.

The new girl then begins to see that John is trying really hard and they begin to start dating. John now has new healthy eating habits to lose weight, and he has a new girlfriend that he is in love with.

Phillip is a college student finding himself starting to eat fast food everyday and doesn't want to get into the habit.

He unfortunately has very limited options in his refrigerator though.

He decides to pull out all of the food that has been stored away and figure out what he can start making.

He pulls out his phone and starts to use an app to help him find recipes with what he knows he has.

He follows the recipe and finds a new dish that he loves.
